

General Linguistics Seminar

Hilary Term 2023

Hosted by Víctor Acedo-Matellán and Daniel Altshuler

The following seminars will be given on Mondays 5:15 pm in Room 2 of the Taylorian Institute

Week 1 (16 January): Isabelle Roy (Nantes Université)

Predication, specification, equation

Week 2 (23 January): Hazel Pearson (Queen Mary University of London)

Towards an analysis of the acquaintance inference for predicates of personal taste

Week 3 (30 January): Xavier Bach (University of Oxford)

Orderly suppletion

Week 4 (6 February): Heather Burnett (CNRS – Université Paris Cité)

Pragmatic sociolinguistics: Formalizing the social world

Week 5 (13 February): Dag Haug (University of Oslo)

Constraints on reciprocal scope

Week 6 (20 February): Afra Pujol i Campeny (University of Oxford & British Academy)

The left periphery of Old Catalan

Week 7 (27 February): Marcus Perlman (University of Birmingham)

Language is iconic to the core

Week 8 (6 March): Hannah Rohde (University of Edinburgh)

Raising and answering questions in discourse