

General Linguistics Seminar

Michaelmas Term 2022

Hosted by Víctor Acedo-Matellán and Daniel Altshuler

The following seminars will be given on Mondays 5:15 pm, wks 2 – 8. Room 2, Taylorian Institute

Week 2 (17 October)

Which language do you dream in? Or, which is your mother tongue?

Teresa Parodi (University of Cambridge)

Week 3 (24 October)

Psycholinguistic evidence for phonological grouping in language production

Hilary Wynne (University of Oxford)

Week 4 (31 October)

A typological approach to metaphony

Francesc (Xico) Torres-Tamarit (Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona)

Week 5 (7 November)

Type-restricted argument ellipsis and generalized quantifiers

Idan Landau (Ben Gurion University)

Week 6 (14 November)

Linguistic typology, linguistic transfer and learnability in L2

Dora Alexopoulou (University of Cambridge)

Week 7 (21 November)

Even*: Polarity and scope

Sam Carter (in collaboration with Kyle Blumberg) (Australian Catholic University)

Week 8 (28 November)

“Ambiguous” isn’t “underspecified”: Evidence from three tasks

Shayne Slogget (University of York)