

General Linguistics Seminar

Michaelmas Term 2023

Hosted by Víctor Acedo-Matellán and Daniel Altshuler

The following seminars will be given on Mondays 4:15 pm, wks 2 – 8. Room 2, Taylorian Institute

Week 2 (16 October)

What sort of commitment are preparatory conditions?

Martina Faller (University of Manchester)

Week 3 (23 October)

Slicing the Morphological Pie: Domains and Selection

Hagit Borer (Queen Mary University of London)

Week 4 (30 October)

Syntax and prosody of coordination

Danfeng Wu (Magdalen College, University of Oxford)

Week 5 (6 November)

Historicising synchronic microvariation: endangered Neo-Aramaic as a tool for typology

Dorota Molin (University of Oxford)

Week 6 (13 November)

How priming research can inform formal semantics and pragmatics

Richard Breheny (University College London)

Week 7 (20 November)

Deriving Mayo reduplication

Andrew Lamont (University College London)

Week 8 (27 November)

Pass judgement: crowdsourcing linguistic data in the 21st century

Jennifer Smith (University of Glasgow)