

Oxford Anatolian Seminar

This term, meetings of the Oxford Anatolian Seminar will exclusively be held online. Everyone is welcome to join, but in order to attend please get in touch at michele.bianconi@st-hildas.ox.ac.uk or philomen.probert@wolfson.ox.ac.uk. If you joined us last term, no need to e-mail us again if you're happy to remain on the mailing list. (Should you want to unsubscribe, please get in touch.)

Thursday 10 February 2022, 5.00-6.30pm

Luwian in cuneiform: the last frontier of Indo-European Studies

Ilya Yakubovich (Russian Academy of Sciences)

Thursday 10 March 2022, 5.00-6.30pm

Right in the middle: two voices on Hittite and Indo-European morphosyntax

A conversation between

Laura Grestenberger (Austrian Academy of Sciences) and Guglielmo Inglese (University of Leuven)

Michele Bianconi

Diebold Researcher in Comparative Philology, University of Oxford

Fellow in Hellenic Studies, Center for Hellenic Studies, Harvard University

Lecturer in Classics, St Hilda's College, Oxford

Philomen Probert

Professor of Classical Philology and Linguistics

University of Oxford