Romance Linguistics Seminars

The LPP Faculty at Oxford traditionally hosts a weekly Romance Linguistics Seminar, open to all, which is popular among students, early career researchers, and members of staff. There are no scheduled seminars this Michaelmas Term 2026. They will resume in Hilary Term 2027, and a full programme will be published nearer the time.

As a trial, the seminars will take place at lunchtime (day and time TBC) and will be followed by lunch somewhere near the Schwarzman Centre. This is to facilitate participation from those who find evening seminars difficult to manage.
